Introduction

COMPANY PROFILE

In 2002, Applied and Decorative Painting applied its first lick of paint to a building in Brisbane, beginning a journey that would see us play a role in adding colour, style and quality to the city's houses and commercial buildings for years to come.

In the ensuing years Applied and Decorative Painting has built a reputation for quality, care and attention that has surpassed its peers, proven by its Dulux Accredited Painter of the Year award and numerous WOMO awards.

That care and attention does not just apply to the way we treat our customers, but also the company's approach to our team. We take pride in the houses around the city that look great as a result of our work, but we also take pride in the nurturing and personal development of the staff that helps us all brighten up the world we live in.

Dear Applied & Decorative Painting

I write to compliment you and your team on a superb job in repairing storm damage to our house in St Lucia. Although it was a fairly small job, our interactions with you and your colleagues was of the highest professional and technical standard in every respect.

We were extremely impressed by the way that you communicated with us at every stage, that you and your staff came when advised, and did what was agreed, and at the highest standard. We were especially impressed by the way that we were treated - with courtesy and consideration at all times - it was a delight to have your staff at our home.

We were also impressed by the way that the tradesman (Luke) treated his apprentice (Jack): Jack was treated with respect, told clearly what to do and how, given constructive feedback and clear explanations about the task being undertaken.

My own work has involved teaching young people, and I found it refreshing and highly impressive to see how this young man was being helped to learn his trade, and how he responded positively to that help.

Over the years we have had many tradesmen at our place, but none have been as impressive as those from your company. We will certainly call on 'Applied and Decorative Painting' when next we have some work.

Thanks again, most sincerely

Trevor

To Whom It May Concern,

I have known Gary Wilson from Applied & Decorative Painting for 12 years. In this period I have found Gary to be trustworthy, reliable and always presents himself and his business in the highest professional manner.

Gary always ensures his customers are happy with his workmanship on his projects, including an excellent communicator that ticks all boxes when a project is in progress and also follows Dulux paint manufactures specifications in all situations. Gary always fulfills his customers' expectations and more, I have experienced.

Gary is a true professional and I have no hesitation in recommending Applied & Decorative Painting, on any job that he feels he can complete and to the highest quality standard his business always seems to deliver.

Applied & Decorative Painting are very experienced in quality repaints in the residential, commercial, insurance and real estate market segments, and including body corporate work. Applied & Decorative Painting have been recognized by Dulux year on year as a professional well-oiled business that always aims to deliver the highest levels of customer satisfaction and workmanship.

Yours Faithfully,
Jason Osborn ,

CHARITY SUPPORT

We are thankful for all we have, so every month, we donate to both UNHCR and a charity chosen by our clients.

We believe 'sharing is having more' and one of the ways we can help brighten our world is through regular donations to charities. Each month, we ask our clients to say which of three nominated charities they would prefer us to donate to. We also regularly support our clients, colleagues and alliances in their fundraising efforts.

PAINT FOR A MATE

We recently helped brighten the world of a war widow supported by Legacy Australia, by giving her home a badly needed fresh coat of paint.

Mrs Marie Harvey's Mitchelton home, which was in desperate need of loving care, is now looking fresh and new after we helped to organise and complete the paint removal and repainting for her home.

The volunteer project was completed in partnership with Inspirations Paint and Berger. With many of our team members having relatives involved in past and current wars, helping the families of war veterans is close to our hearts.

ECO-FRIENDLY

Part of making our world a brighter place to live, is ensuring our painting practices impact the environment as little as possible.

To help lead the painting industry in eco-smart practices, we:

- Use non-toxic and low-VOC products as much as possible
- Contain any potentially polluting waste (for example, old lead paint we have removed) and dispose of in an environmentally responsible manner
- We use the Dulux EnviroWash system to clean brushes

Environmentally sensitive projects we have completed includes:

- University of Queensland's Heron Island Research Station, in the Great Barrier Reef
- O'Reilly's Rainforest Retreat, in Lamington National Park
- Couran Cove, South Stradbroke Island, an ecotourism resort adjoining South Stradbroke Island Conservation Park

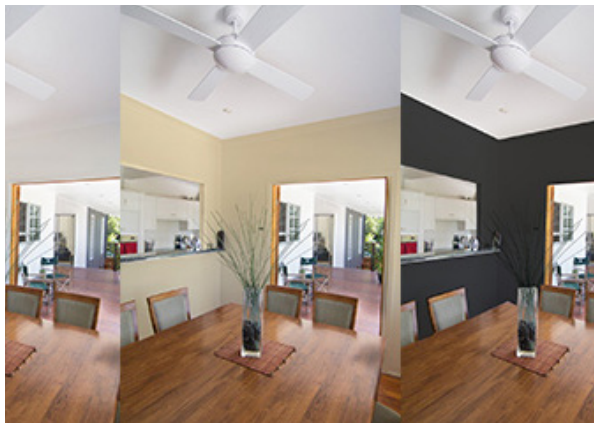

Digital Overlay

VISUALISING POTENTIAL

We believe in great colour schemes, so part of our full colour consultation service is the creation of digital overlays to help all stakeholders visualise new and different colour scheme.

Digital overlays help to visualise your property's potential and confirm colour selection.

Here are some examples of digital overlay:
